

Capitalizing Medical Groups (HFMA HEALTHCARE FINANCIAL MANAGEMENT SERIES)

Capitalizing Medical Groups will assist you in finding the right financial source for funding your physician group. The book details the magnitude of capital needs of physician practices, including single-specialty and multispecialty groups, as well as why obtaining capital is important for physicians. Written by two top healthcare consultants, Dean C. Coddington and Keith D. Moore and the president of the Healthcare Financial Management Association, Richard L. Clarke, Capitalizing Medical Groups shows you how to obtain capital from outside sources such as health plans, banks, Wall Street, as well as from internal sources. The book also details the structure of the deals when playing with PhyCor, MedPartners, and other PPMs Capitalizing Medical Groups also includes actual case studies to illustrate successes and failures when dealing with potential capital sources. Capitalizing Medical Groups also covers issues on: * building and maintaining primary care practice * geographic expansion * contracting and the ability to accept risk * potential sources of capital and different organizational structures * what hospitals can do to respond * and much more...
